Rural Financial Counsellor Opens Corryong Office

Tony Shirley, Goulburn Murray Hume Agcare Rural Financial Counsellor is not a new face in Corryong. He has been visiting farmers in the area for many years, supporting them with their Exceptional Circumstances assessments, applications and offering general financial assistance.

Due to an increase in demand for rural financial counselling and assistance in Corryong, Goulburn Murray Hume Agcare will be opening an office at the Upper Murray Health offices in Kiell Street for two days per month commencing on April 1st and 2nd.

“Having the Corryong office open two days per month will enable Tony to meet more clients, more often by limiting his travel time, said Kathy Moloney, GMH Agcare Executive Officer. “He will now be able to see more farmers and small rural businesses who are eligible and have made the decision to get advice on a whole range of financial matters.”

“With the Exceptional Circumstances benefit having just been extended for a further twelve months, the time is now right for many to seek advice early as to what benefits and support is available to them. If you self-assess, you are possibly missing out on some of the financial assistance currently on offer”, said Tony Shirley, Rural Financial Counsellor. “I see people in range of situations, with the best outcomes usually those who come to see me early, before things start getting away.”

To make a confidential appointment with Tony Shirley in the Corryong office, call the Goulburn Murray Hume Agcare office in Wodonga on [02] 6055 3030 or Tony direct on mobile 0429 484 489.
